Stunning Research Videos – Was Berkeley Police Department Supporting Antifa Violence?....

Posted on April 20, 2017 by sundance

This is a well presented and easy to understand video which appears to make a solid case that police munitions were fired by the Berkeley Police Department against Trump supporters, and in support of AntiFA thugs, last weekend.

The video was created by Thomas Wictor who is continuing to assemble more evidence. WATCH, it is rather stunning to realize what could be happening:

If the video is correct the FBI needs to immediately open an investigation into the use of police munitions against political opponents by Berkeley Police.

I located the people launching stun grenades at the crowd in Berkeley on April 15, 2015. Another video coming up.

I wish all Trump supporters would just stay away from the Marxist, Soros funded events. Then the nutcases would have no one to beat up and they would start beating up on each other and destroying property. Only then can the National Guard be sent in to make arrests.

I think the tide is turning because rank and file people are starting to become aware and to resist. ANTIFA scum have been attacking in California for at least 20 years. Now the internet has made it possible for widespread dissemination of the truth. WHITES can win if they unify, organize and FIGHT BACK. There should be a federal Civil Rights Investigation of this event.

Antifa reminds me of the “anarchist” goons who smashed windows in downtown Seattle during peaceful anti-WTO marches back in the 90’s.

SPD stood back and let them do it. Then used that as an excuse to ship in these creepy covered-up LEO from somewhere. They literally were covered up head to toe. Not ID'd with any kind of badge.

These non- SPD peeps then proceeded to terrorize the city for about a week. Storming restaurants away from the city center while families tried to dine to, etc. It was a nightmare.

When local PD do not enforce law, you do not want to know what happens next.

Time to arrest the Mayor of Berkeley, Police Chief, and aldermen and charge them for civil rights abuses and then SUE the living daylights of them by using Title 42, Section 1984 that was used against the Klu Klux Klan back in the late 1800s. It is time to bankrupt them and force them out of Public service.

The same with the Antifa Berkeley employed professor who hid a Trump supporter from behind on the head using a bicycle lock as exposed yesterday on 4CHAN. Ask yourself the question: Are police officers marching with Antifa while covering their faces with the bandages like the Berkeley professor? It would answer why the police stood by watching as Antifa were beating up Trump/Milo supporters?!

Much of ANTIFA is white too, so the color angle doesn't resonate as much as the attack on free speech. The tide is turning on that front, however. With Ann Coulter and Milo both planning events soon – and each event turning up the heat a bit more – the New Free Speech Movement is striking the beast in its heart. Sorry, I am going to take the word of people who were actually there over the analysis of someone analyzing video after the fact. I think the vets that were there would be able to recognize the difference between an M-80 and a flash-bang. I sure as hell could.

In fact, most flash-bangs I know of have a re-useable body that the actual replaceable pyro device goes into, so even after use the device body will still be lying on the ground, and there is no mistaking one of those with an M-80.

When you watch the videos from that day all you see is constant explosions from the cops and the antifa anti-fascists fascists. Watching vids you rarely if ever see explosions in antifa morons side unless someone picked up the thing and threw it from the Pro-Trump into the antifa fascists crowd.

My heart is crying. This is really tearing me up inside to see this. Real police officers willing to do this to their country.

An innocent may have easily had their life taken away, and it would've been permanent, we don't come back from being dead. Once we are gone, we're gone. The end.

If one would've heard this as rumor, it would've been a bit difficult to believe. Police officers willing to go to these lengths for their bosses. Whose to say multiple lives couldn't have been lost? I think our Angels were standing in the way, but what happens next time, or the time after that? Will we get so lucky time and time again? No, of course not, and Coulter will be there soon enough to speak. It will just be another chance for them to take.

So yes, my heart is breaking. It is breaking for our country, for the lengths our leaders and police are willing to take, and for what? Trillions and trillions of dollars are at stake. But a life, a human life is worth more than that, its priceless, and any family will tell you that, especially if they are to lose their loved one this way.

After seeing the deliberate inaction of the police as Trump supporters were brutally beaten, intimidated and harassed at what should be happy, peaceful rallies (see San Diego, Chicago etc.), it does not surprise me that the police in some locations are taking sides. What does surprise me is a police department taking physical/armed action (on the offence not on defense) against one side over another. This really beginning to look like Venezuela.

Expect more of this unless offenders start spending some serious time behind bars.

Two points not an expert but I am not convinced. That said What was clear is professional malfeasance on the part of mayor and police chief.

Europe has been dealing with this in the form of the black bloc for years (ineffectively I might add)

What is needed is a declaration by the AG declaring the AntiFa a criminal organization. No one should be able to cover their face unless medically necessary. That solves three problems the cowards of AntiFa, Bercas, and criminals avoiding cameras and face recognition.

While we're at it let's go after Soros as the funding source and his money to pay damages. Let's encourage Europe to do the same and put him and his family on a boat. Then when they are done we should recognize Russia's right to extradite him and his boys. There I solved everything

Here's one thing we absolutely know:

When the Trump supporters came, they were "relieved" believe law enforcement was very present and the LEOs disarmed everyone there. Then after they pulled out, THAT is when "antifa" came to play... and they were armed. To me, that's an almost certainty the police were setting up the people to be victims. That tactical weapons would also be deployed doesn't come as a big stretch to me.

Every aspect of government in those areas of California are politicized and thus weaponized. We know this to be true. Many aspects of big business in California are also politicized and have influence over government in California.

I know you don't want to believe that the police could be corrupt and yet we have ample indications that this is likely to be the case given that such screening would likely happen from day one. But we've seen the US Federal government completely weaponized already. What precisely is your issue of not wanting to believe a thing?

That is an emotional response when you should be looking at what we know and basing your view on a likelihood of something being the case based on available evidence which includes what we have seen or witnessed in the past and present in other areas.

And when we've seen police complying with orders to stand down while watching innocent people get beaten and even killed? Sorry, but it's harder to believe they are innocent than it is to believe they are guilty of criminal conduct given their willingness to allow crime to happen.

Hello sunnydaze!

Yes. You are correct that it did happen in MPLS. It wasn't a rally though. It was an event for donors to Trump's campaign. Betsy Hodges, the hijab wearing mayor of MPLS told the police to not intervene and attendees weren't allowed to use any other exit. Leftists were able to spit, berate, harass and steal hats and signs with impunity. Law enforcement could only intervene if an actual physical assault was in progress, but that didn't extend to sign stealing or taking hats or spitting.

Here's a link and a quote to the local paper about the harassment:

"The demonstrators who harassed donors were not present earlier on, when the protest was peaceful. Many in the later group hid their faces behind scarves.

Minneapolis police spokeswoman Sgt. Catherine Michal said there were no arrests and no reported injuries.

There was, however, minor damage, including graffiti on the walls of the Convention Center, and officers had to escort Trump supporters in and out of the lobby because they were being harshly confronted, Michal said."

the BLM and all the enforcement and patrols were done by the local Sheriffs Office. It was a win win situation as it helped local law enforcement with budgetary woes and it relieved the BLM from having to train officers. The government never had the means to oppress its citizens until now under the guise of Terrorism we have a fully militarized Federal bureaucracy.

Looking at the antifa boards after the past clash with Trump supporters it is clear that they are surprised about facing an opposing strength of Trump supporters while getting their a$$es whooped. Their next move appears to be to use weapons and other injury inflicting means in their next clash with Trump supporters. One of the antifa thugs was unmasked by 4CHAN as he used a bicycle lock to hit a Trump supporter from behind on his head causing serious injuries. The professor is employed at Berkeley yet marches as antifa thugs while covering his face with a bandana. Think about that!

now the 2 guys on the roof – that's an interesting one. Both have something in their hands, one has a gas mask on and the brown shirt is pointing towards the direction of where the antifa just came or still coming. It's a shame that no one had the presence of mind to pick up the smoke bomb/grenade after it was exhausted. For that matter, maybe someone did. I would think it would be a must-have souvenir. Even though its evidentiary value would be lost because of trail-of-custody, it would still be very interesting to see if it was identifiable.

In terms of the guys on the roof – there'll be no excuse for not having a couple of camera equipped quad-copters in the air next time, to see what they're up to.

This isn't so convincing but I have seen videos of police going into crowds like this and stirring up trouble. However, the main reason they do it is so they can then have an excuse to disperse the crowd and clear the area. In this case however, I saw video that the police were asked to stand down so it appears that stirring things up wasn't their main goal. This is more worry sum as that would mean that they were in fact against the trump supporters and for the so called "antifa" who ironically are the fascists. At minimum this deserves to be investigated at the AG

See – I think the goal WAS stirring it up, but WITHOUT LOOKING LIKE IT. And that is pure "top-down" BS, like it always is with these commies. That's why you have angry beat cops who want to do their jobs doing nothing, and hidden swat types carrying out "half-missions" of crowd dispersal that turn into crowd agitation. Who knows what they were told, or what they thought they were doing, or why they think things "failed". Everything was intended to fail as it did, except there wasn't enough blood, really to effectively cancel Ann's speech and send Berkeley into some kind of eternal huddle on "controversial speakers". Which is what I think the goal was.

The left is good at playing complex games where nobody really knows what the other guy is doing. Only the central plotters know the whole plan. The other people are just doing their parts and looking at the overall fail. Beat cops, SWAT, the chief, the school administrators, Antifa – they're all being manipulated. Even the people who manipulate them don't know the whole plan.

I have some personal hands-on experience opposing these leftist "protests" and have seen the sophistication. Nothing is spontaneous although it is made to appear so. The ostensible goal (for example, "antifascism") is not the real goal, or even a relevant consideration.

Kent State is the pinnacle of success but even Moldylocks is a success for them.

I believe physical confrontation is necessary but with the understanding that physical confrontation is what is being sought on their terms for their reasons. Lashing out is what they are looking for.

Confrontation needs to be done not on their terms but always with the goal of outflanking and sowing unexpected punishment (however that is defined).

In 2017 we have reached the point where intelligent physical opposition is possible. Whether the right tactics and organization are used remain to be seen, but things look promising.

Bring drones to provide video over watch of California PD's at any Berkeley type event.

The legal liability implications of actions like the Berkeley PD took are incredible, and live streamed drone video overwatching police SWAT units will have a deterrent effect for institutional bad actors.

The Drone will have to modified and hardened against common jammers available to SWAT units.

You can't tell from these videos who is doing what, nor in what direction the flashbangs are flying. Also, cops with a mob scene on their hands will typically lob in smoke rockets to get everyone to disperse.

I would say, going forward, if they're worried about what the cops on the roofs are up to, they should detail a couple of guys to just film them and nothing else, just in case. Ditto the cops on the ground. But the Black Bloc thugs are plenty violent and hateful enough to be throwing whatever they can find on the black market, so I wouldn't jump to conclusions. Bad enough that the cops in Leftwing-run cities are told to stand back and let the thugs run riot.

It is not in any way outrageous to think they might have gone to greater lengths to provoke violence.

Yeah, the San Jose police Dept. Is being sued for leading Trump supporters directly into the anti-Trump protesters and then doing nothing when the Trump supporters were attacked by the thugs. All police are not angels. You can support police in general without turning a blind and ignorant eye to the fact that there are possibly some problems with corruption/bad law enforcement.

I'm looking at the bigger picture. The actions were wrong for keeping it peaceful. They wanted it to boil over. It's even apparent from the videos. The beat cops were angry about being held back and questioned by reporters (see those videos). The crowds were egged into violence by "crowd control" when not needed (see the videos). It's all very subtle, but it's clear.

Now ask – what's the purpose? I think it's the same pattern as the Trump rallies – incite plus stand-down – to try to create a meme of "speech causes violence". AKA HATE SPEECH.

I think they wanted stronger free speech control precedent based on violence, just like they tried to shut down Trump rallies (free speech) based on ginned up violence. Ann's upcoming talk was part of that.

It's all about shutting down speech. They are not on the defensive on free speech. They are on the offensive. They are baiting us in.

Ferguson type events are swinging the pendulum the other way where people think any time something bad comes out about the police it is labeled law enforcement bashing. The San Jose police department is being sued because they stood by and allowed Trump supporters to be terrorized after a Trump rally. There were MANY eyewitnesses to this. The police actually directed those leaving the rally into the angry mob of protestors and allowed them to be attacked. There have many NUMEROUS reports that the police did nothing to help the Trump supporters last weekend and also previously when Milo's speech was protested. The FBI targeted the KKK, Communists, Black Panthers, sometimes pitting them against each other to create a strategy of tension. It was investigated by Senator Frank Church, "The Church Committee".

To be fair, anyone, a political group, foreign espionage, corrupt insiders, organized crime, or oligarchical collective could initiate this "agitprop".

SD is simply clear-channeling Wictor's sketchy question that needs to be asked more widely. It has already ginned up one alleged PD whistle-blower statement, and lots more photographic evidence. Eventually, it will hit gold, silver, or platinum. It also helps explain the larger context, even if it was AntiFa. Ann Coulter is central to this, IMO. The problem is, everybody needs to ask the right question – who set up the violence to happen? – and as far up the chain as the answer will go.

Somebody has already stated that the explosions may include BOTH M80's and flash-bangs. That actually sounds more likely. And it may be that not only were beat cops kept back – the SWAT guys (if they fired bangs and smoke) may have been too far back to be accurate. Again, that is basically the result of malicious negligence. Almost as bad as planned malice.

Wictor is learning from Trump. Attack with truth grenades when you know you will be close, because you don't have to be exact. In fact, exact isn't as good as just beyond reach, because the enemy will flail to disarm and blow their cover. 😊

Personally, I think Wictor is manning up to save his #MoldyMuse, but whatever. It's going in the right direction to get the truth. 😊

I think the video documentary does a good analysis showing that the smoke and sonic grenades are likely of the type used by law enforcement. However, law enforcement does not manufacture them; they BUY them.

I find it infinitely more probable that these devices were purchased by the group organizing these national protests than that an entire police department has been subverted into riot-instigating thugs. Remember, just a few short months ago, men in blue were being hunted by perpetrators more closely aligned with those wearing masks than those wearing MEGA caps.

I highly doubt the police were using their own munitions, unless they had agents imbedded in antifa. The explosions were constant and the devices were hand thrown, the first even were landing around police doing an arrest. Lauren Southern also had one bounce off her helmet. I have looked at the video and while the smoke and explosions look less like m80s, they don't look and sound as powerful as police stun grenades. Also they didn't need the smoke grenade to cause violence, two Trump people were seriously hurt and bleeding on the line minutes before the grenade. See video of the berkeley bicycle lock attack and another guy had a lot of blood come from his head. Lots of chaotic fighting on both sides. The police walked away early on so the whoever the culprits were they were embedded with Antifa

Come on guys, seriously? Where is your cynicism? Some guy posts a couple videos making allegations that frankly, don't add up. I've seen videos of people at the riot loading fireworks into glass bottles and throwing them into the crowd.

I've been a cop for 14 years. I was on the SWAT team, a marksman on the team. Putting people on rooftops for a birds eye view is a smart move of the police commanders. (Have we forgotten Dallas already) Those videos don't show a police officer shooting into a crowd. They show police officers watching the crowd.

Secondly, I've used flash bang devices and smoke grenades. Those "explosions" aren't flash bangs. The flash bang is much louder, and doesn't throw sparks. There is a reusable body of the flash bang that no one thought to video or take a picture of? Think it through...

To me, it appears the maker of this video is trying to cast blame away from the away from the actions of the violent left, and instead cast their actions on the police. IF, the police did use special munitions on a crowd of "peaceful" protestors, then they should answer for their actions.

That’s odd, in the videos I watched I saw the Trump supporters wearing all sorts of helmets, (Including a Nazis replica helmet) and assorted body armor. The Trump supporters did pretty well without any of those defense items you spoke of.

I agree the police should have done more to prevent the violence and once it started, moved to stop it. However, it appears that the Antifas who started the violence lost big time and looking at the comments on their forums, they know it.

As far as dereliction of duty, that falls on the Mayor and the Chief of Police. The rank and file officers obtain their police authority from the agency they work for and if they act outside (against orders) of that authority, they lose their legal authority for their actions and accept all legal liability for said actions.

I have to disagree wolfmoon1776. LibertyVibe was complaining just above that the police were disarming the Trump supporters. (I read a couple days ago that the police confiscated four American flags attached to iron pipes from the Trump folks and around 30 or more iron pipe supported flags from the Antifa folks) The police were involved up till the time the explosions started to go off around them. At this time the police departed and left the two sides to their own devices.

I wasn't there, but I'm guessing that while checking the "toys" both sides brought to a peaceful demonstration, the police figured this was going to be more of a rumble than a peaceful event. When the explosions went off near the police endangering their safety, a decision was made to pull back and let the two sides square off. I believe they would call this tactic disengagement.

I'm also guessing from the political persuasion of the Mayor and the Police Chief, they assumed that the Antifa forces would win the day and drive the evil Trump supporters from their fair city.

However, the rank and file street cops, who have to put up with these Antifa knuckleheads on a regular basis, probably wished for a different result. The street level cops that were initially on the scene, sized up the "security force" guys that had arrived to protect the Trump folks and figured the results were going to be than the previous encounter.

My guess that after sizing up the Trum p defenders, the street cops had a pretty good idea on how the "event" was going to turn out, with the Antifa folks getting their axxs kicked and put into full retreat. This was a win (revenge) for the Trump supporters and a vicarious win for the street cops. The only losers I see were the Antifa folks, the Mayor and the Police Chief.

I'm also guessing, knowing cops as I do, that after shift that day, more than a few of the street cops were toasting the Trump folks for thumping the Antifa knuckleheads, something they would have never been allowed to do.

wolfmoon1776 I believe you've seen some of my prior posts on police related matters and know of my background and my point of view about police misconduct. If I saw any police misconduct in the photos or videos referenced by Wictor, I would not be shy to point out and condemn the officer(s) actions.

However, I saw nothing in either the photos or videos to substantiate Wictor's claims. Furthermore, no physical evidence (spent canisters) have been recovered from the scene. Also, in a number of cases, the Trump team identified the perpetrators of the (ued)attacks and went after them. Outside of Wictor's accusations, I haven't heard any of the many participants make those claims prior to Wictor's announcement.

I did not do a through background check on Wictor, but the brief online search I did conduct lead me to question Wictor's credibility. Also, whenever I receive a complaint from a sketchy guy that looks like the Unabomber, I'm usually a little more than.

One last thing. I wish Sundance had not posted this article as it has caused some unnecessary angst among some here at the Treehouse. There is really nothing in Wictor's "evidence" to remotely substantiate the claim of LEO's being involved in throwing smoke bombs or flash bangs at the Trump folks, unless you believe in Wictor's ability to interpret smoke signals.

Take care and have a great weekend

I do think the Justice Dept. needs to open an investigation into the Berkeley Police Dept and strip them of all federal funding until they start enforcing the laws and protecting all citizens equally. I don't know about the munitions stuff, but the police just standing by and watching people getting beat up is not ok.

Is it possible that police are colluding? Yes. But that is an extraordinary claim backed by almost no evidence. Police were polled as supporting Trump at an 84% rate in September, and this was before Trump's rally at the end.

Among police, Trump was at 84%, Hillary was at 8% and Gary Johnson was at 5%. Even assuming Berkeley police are more left-leaning than other police, I find the premise of this post implausible.

<http://www.policemag.com/channel/patrol/articles/2016/09/the-2016-police-presidential-poll.aspx>

I am a dedicated Trump supporter who had a hard time getting through Nov. 8th because I was so anxious and emotionally spent from effort. All I could do was pray and block out the world. And then I was on calls into the night rejoicing with like minded people I had worked with. In short, not a troll.

But the evidence of this video is thin, thin, thin. Just a few puffs of smoke actually. I have seen puffs of smoke like that coming off of publicly purchasable fireworks every 4th of July.

Some actual evidence that would be more convincing:

- Casings on the ground of police hardware

- Footage of police throwing something

This theorizing on such scant evidence takes away from the real problem. I don't think the rank and file are the problem. They take their orders from the mayor. If they are told that any overreach will be prosecuted, then they will stand down.

Berkeley mayor Jesse Arreguin is a far-left extremist who hates Trump. He should be the target here. Read this and tell me you don't agree.

<http://www.nbcbayarea.com/news/local/Berkeley-Mayor-Backs-Police-Response-to-Violence-at-Rally-419676074.html>

In any event, the police did arrest a number of antifa. They were ordered to be 'nonagressive' and that's what they did. Keep the heat on political leadership; don't lose focus.

Pretty clear. The explosions will be revealed but as far as the cops. Just the look on their faces said it all.....They know all these antifa punks from Oakland and where do they allow a contingent of black clad stick wielding thugs with masks to assemble on a peaceful protest...My verdict is guilty.. This is a Loretta Lynch PD overtaken by leftists....

How can we tell the difference between plain clothes police using munitions issued by the police and regular people on the roof using police grade munitions they bought somewhere?

Also, the video doesn't show us what it looks like when an m-80 is placed in a bottle. Does that make a difference? We have been told that antifa was putting the m-80's into bottles.

Mayor Jesse Arreguin held a forum on “Progressive Mayorship” at the Free Speech Movement Café on Monday night, covering topics including freedom of speech, violent protests and the role of Berkeley as a progressive city under the Trump administration.

Arreguin began the event by first affirming his commitment to freedom of speech in light of the violent rallies in the city Saturday, one of several violent outbursts in Berkeley this year. He said he was committed to respecting the right of everyone to peacefully express their opinions, whatever they are, yet he stressed the importance of public safety.

“Public safety is our top priority,” Arreguin said. “And that actually, I believe, takes precedence over freedom of speech.”

I don't know what those explosives were and I'm no expert, but I have set off M80s. I was looking forward to the day when I could set some off, because I'd heard a lot about them but never had the opportunity. So I was very excited when I was able to get my hands on a bunch of them.

I was disappointed, they weren't as powerful as I was led to believe. I figured most of what I'd heard before were tall tales. They were only alright, nothing special. Many of those explosives at Berkeley don't seem like M80s AT ALL. Especially the one thrown into the crowd on the grass field, the one where they say, "M80! M80! Antifa threw a M80!" in the video. From the video of it flying in, it looks a heckuva lot bigger than a M80. Also when it exploded there was pronounced deep concussion you could hear. I never heard that kind of concussion from my M80 experiments. It's not there at all. It also threw off a pretty significant smoke plume larger than a M80 would.

I may have missed it in the above comments, but THIS is why Madison, Jefferson, et al included a Second Amendment in our Constitution! Think about it...govt's force law-abiding citizens into NOT carrying a weapon for their protection then when govt needs to "round up rowdy protestors" all the more easier to do with unarmed citizens relying on the very police they thought were there to protect them.

The 2A was meant for you and I to be able to stay in or leave our house and have the NATURAL RIGHT to protect our person and family ANYWHERE we go in these United States. We as a people have allowed our Fed Govt to take away control of States rights, individual rights, etc...I wonder if Jefferson were to rise from his grave and saw what we call America today he would want to round up another body of people for another Revolution!

IF, IF this is true that police were "allowed" to engage in this activity then some heavy investigations need to be looked at...The law needs to be enforced!

Well...not all of them, thankfully.

These things are happening in cities that have uber-leftist mayors.

San Jose, for example, has a La Raza member for it's mayor.
The chief of police there is also La Raza.

I'm not saying that there aren't some corrupted cops out there...but the corruption usually starts at the top, with the mayors.

Last I heard, there is a lawsuit against the San Jose mayor, filed by the victims/Trump supporters who were beaten & brutalized after the Trump rally.
Which is great.
